Marlow Explorer 97E

Snead Island, Florida – January 12, 2016 (Marlow Yachts Limited, Inc.)

Our Marlow Explorer 97E, hull #5, will make an encore appearance at the Miami International Boat Show. This show stopping yacht continues the Marlow tradition of taking pride in setting and meeting manufacturing standards allowing customers a great amount of flexibility in designing a yacht that fits their needs while satisfying the international standards organizations rigid oversight and requirements. She boasts brilliant performance in speed, range and economy.

Her Oyster White hull, topped by her gleaming and porcelain like superstructure, features four staterooms and crew quarters. The master stateroom with perfectly matched exotic woods is designed with his and her heads. As one enters this expansive stateroom, your gaze is immediately attracted to the high gloss Burl wood panel above the king sized headboard along with nature's complimentary variances in burl nightstand counter tops.

The custom flybridge aft of the command bridge features a custom boat deck bar with fixed barstools, sink and convenient cabinetry showing the exquisite fit and finish that Marlow is known for. Just forward of the command bridge, a private sun lounge allows for a quality relaxing arena. The fore and aft decks are comfortable extensions of the yacht allowing space for a quiet dinner, drinks, conversation and relaxation.

Exceptional speed and performance are standard Marlow Hallmarks and this new 97 is no exception with top speeds of 30 knots in medium load conditions, with a range that is normally off limits to vessels of this size other than very large commercial boats or purpose designed and built global ranging yachts. Featuring the speed of high performance day boats with large engines with the comfort and amenities of a long distance passagemaker, the Marlow 97 is exceptional in every detail.
